

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The invention provides a solid electrolytic capacitor, in which non-conductive particles are made to be present between a dielectric layer and an electrolyte layer, and a second electrolyte layer is further formed by a conductive polymer including graphite particles and non-conductive particles.